

Matt D. Englizian
Client Advisor

Matt Englizian joined Laird Norton Tyee in 2007 bringing with him a passion for comprehensive wealth management, investment management and client service. He thrives on solving client problems with tangible, positive results. Once client goals are established, Matt diligently ensures that all aspects of their wealth management plan are properly implemented.

Prior to joining Laird Norton Tyee, Matt was an advisor at Lincoln Financial Advisors where he provided holistic financial planning services to professionals, executives and small business owners. Matt has experience in all areas of financial planning and specializes in asset allocation, retirement planning, estate planning, college planning and risk management. Nearly 30 percent of his financial advisory practice was with business owners. He helped them with succession planning and developed alternatives to meet their goals with the least amount of taxes, costs, and complexity as possible.

Matt has a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and Finance with a minor in Managerial Economics from Oregon State University. He currently holds his Series 7 and Series 66 licenses and is pursuing his CFP Certification. Matt loves to travel, play golf and spend time in the outdoors and is also involved in The City Church in Kirkland where he lives.
