

Wendy S. Romanchuk
Client Advisor

Client advisor Wendy Romanchuk has more than 25 years of wealth management experience and is an expert in both trust and estate administration. She works directly with clients to orchestrate the investment, wealth planning, trust and tax management resources that enable individuals and families to reach their financial goals. Wendy enjoys learning about her clients and understanding how they got to where they are today. This allows her to put the financial pieces together and connect unique client needs to viable solutions. She is a member of the Laird Norton Tyee (LNTyee) trust administration committee and the investment committee.

Prior to joining LNTyee in 2001, Wendy was a vice president and trust officer with KeyTrust Company where she specialized in investment management, trust administration, estate administration and guardianship services to high-net-worth individuals and families. She also served on the trust committee.

Wendy attended the University of Illinois and earned an associate degree from Bellevue Community College. She is a Certified Trust Financial Advisor and a Certified IRA Services Professional. Wendy volunteers with The Humane Society for Seattle/King County and serves on the planned giving committee at Seattle University.
